Subject: Proposed Woodside mine

I have read of a proposal to open a mine at Woodside, South Australia. This does not sound like an environmentally friendly idea. I am absolutely shocked at this.

At this stage I am voicing my disapproval and dismay that such a suggestion is being considered. My actions may go further in future. What will be mined that makes this even worth consideration?

Please reconsider this proposal. Think instead of the destruction of prime hills landscape and wildlife. Put the mine in a less beautiful part of South Australia if you must! No mine is welcome at Woodside. I visit frequently but over the years it has lost some of its tourism appeal. There will be NO tourism appeal if a mine goes ahead. We will say goodbye to another treasure of the near Adelaide environment.

If this mine goes ahead it will be another nail in South Australia's coffin. No wonder the other States laugh about us. But in reality it is not a laughing matter.
