Dear Sir or Madam,

I am an Associate Architect at Grieve Gillett Andersen who had been working with the Bird and Hand winery over the last few years helping them design and enhance their lovely and peaceful winery setting.

I am concerned that the Terramin mine will create a negative impact on the visual amenity of the Bird in Hand winery, due to the tall silo structure to be constructed, the coming and going of trucks on the roads and within the site, the 10 metre high mulluck pile to be formed and the scattering of mining buildings throughout the mine site. Not only will the visual amenity of Bird in Hand be compromised but there will be noise pollution to the Bird in Hand Winery and surrounding neighbours. With the continuous movement of trucks, digging and blasting, the area will lose its quality of serenity which will have a negative impact on the locality.

This is a prized area for our state and its tourism, with 1.4 million visitors every year. It would be detrimental to the area to have a mine scar the landscape, disturb the natural sound setting and prove potentially hazardous to the ground water system. The only way to protect the quality of this area is to stop the mine from going ahead.

Best Regards
Tim
