Comment	Why destroy a beautiful landscape, that gives life and economy to the local community, to extract a mineral that will still be there in 1000 years time? Leave it to future generations to decide what they do with. We don't have to rip it all up in this lifetime. Also, why is mining in this country not taxed higher? They're removing a finite resource that will not be there for future generations, and these companies are free to make massive profits off of it.
