Dear Sir

I am a resident of Ardrossan and the mining of minerals on Yorke Peninsula concerns me greatly.

As Yorke Peninsula is a prime agricultural area and relies on tourism, any industry other than cereal, tourism and fishing will destroy the environment.

I am against any mining lease proposal that is currently being assessed namely "Rex Minerals"

To me this doesn't make any sense to destroy good prime agricultural land for the sake of a small number of year's life which this mine will generate.

When the mine lease is finished, the land won't be productive for a large number of years if any.

There are plenty of minerals north of Pt Augusta where the area is not so important.

Once again I am totally against any mining on Yorke Peninsula and will be following the outcome of the assessment to Rex Minerals lease proposal.

Regards

B.Baeker.
