Dear madams and sirs

Please consider the beautiful Adelaide hills future. A mine would completely destroy the bucolic nature of the Adelaide hills.

I am a business owner in Hahndorf and I am extremely concerned about the damage a mine in the area would cause - dust, noise, decrease in tourism.

Not to mention the large impact the mine would have on the environment short and long term- loss of habitat, loss of greenery, increase in emissions, increase in water use, loss of fertile land.

I think it is ludicrous that a mine can even be discussed.

Options such as fields of solar panels in this sunny part of the world are what should be being discussed.

I will oppose the building of the mine with all my might and I implore you to think about the environment, tourism and the future generations not your and your stakeholders financial gain.

There is far too much to lose.

Thank you for your time

A very concerned,

Zoe Norris
