

Revised Electricity Tariffs to apply from 29 February 2024

The South Australian Government continues its support of remote South Australian communities by providing subsidised electricity to around 3,400 customers across 13 townships and 15 Aboriginal Communities under the Remote Area Energy Supply (RAES) scheme.

RAES tariffs are reviewed and set annually by the Minister for Energy and Mining, with residential and business tariffs aligned to the average of market/discount offers provided by South Australian on-grid retailers.

Considering the 2023 tariff review, which indicated that on-grid prices had increased by more than 25 per cent, the Minister for Energy and Mining has directed that increases in RAES tariffs for 2024 be limited to reflecting the increased cost of energy production across the scheme.

Consequently, increases have been capped at 7.0 per cent in line with the increase in RAES service and fuel costs.

This equates to an average increase of $164 per year for residential and $328 per year for business customers.

Government, Community Stores and Health and Public Lighting tariffs have also been increased to reflect the increase in the cost of energy production. Community pre-pay tariffs remain unchanged reflecting the staged introduction of charging across those communities.

Introduced in 2018, the demand based standby tariff was to be applied to customers that install RAES approved private solar photovoltaic systems and remain connected to RAES grid, reflecting that there is a holding cost associated with maintaining peak generation. Given the difficulties involved in implementing the tariff, and the recent requirement for on-grid distributors to apply time-of-use tariffs for customers with grid connected solar installations, the demand tariff will be replaced with a time-of-use tariff to align RAES more closely with on-grid standard practice.

Holders of a pension concession card, DVA, Gold Card or Centrelink low income health care card may be eligible to receive a concession on your energy costs. Phone 1800 307 758 or go to www.sa.gov.au/concessions to apply.

If you wish to explore how you can reduce the amount of energy used in your home or business, please call the Energy Advisory Service within the Department for Energy and Mining on the “free call” number 1800 671 907.

A fact sheet regarding installation of private solar on the RAES grid is available at www.raes.sa.gov.au.
